Communication and Language in the Early Years: Exploring Key Milestones from Birth to 5 Years

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=EbjMU9ot16k&feature=youtu.be>

Communication skills begin long before young children speak their first word. Research indicates that the complexity of language input – how rich and descriptive our language is during interactions with children – is a significant factor that influences the development of the brain area related to language. What does this mean as Early Childhood educators and parents? Our communication must be intentional, meaning we speak with awareness of our purpose and goal.

How to provide emotional support for children with challenging behaviors at home

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=RIfD8nzuWbk&feature=youtu.be>

During this webinar, you will learn strategies to understand and respond to the unique needs of young children who are exhibiting challenging behaviors. These strategies can be applied both at home and center-based settings with infants and toddlers. You will also learn how to proactively set up a learning environment that supports and guides positive behavior in young children. Practical strategies will be provided on how families and teachers can collaborate to support the emotional development of the child.
